CMPU-101 - Comment #1: Kind, friendly, and caring. Provides practice exams that are basically the same as the real test, which make the class laughably easy if you have any amount of prior experience, but definitely helps those completely new to CS get used to the types of exams. Somewhat dull lectures. Simple and straightforward homework with clear and quick grading.

CMPU-241 - Comment #2: Seemed like a super nice guy, expectations were very reasonable, found the class to be pretty interesting as well

CMPU-241 - Comment #3: Effective, engaging lectures and available to answer questions after class. He simplifies a lot of the material so it's much more digestible. Material from homeworks, lectures, and reviews were very relevant to the exams.

CMPU-101- Comment #4: Professor Erickson is highly knowledgeable and manages the classroom well, especially for a newer professor. While lectures could sometimes feel dull... common in computer science, the hands-on labs were engaging and challenging. Homework was time-intensive but well-designed to reinforce learning. I would definitely take another class with him.
